

About Lydmar Hotel

Lydmar Hotel, members of Small Luxury Hotels, is a privately owned five-story boutique hotel located on Stockholm's waterfront, between the National Museum and the Royal Palace. Since opening in 2008, it has become a beloved destination for guests seeking laid-back sophistication and immersive local culture. With just 46 rooms and a staff known for their warmth and discretion, Lydmar offers a unique, design-forward hospitality experience in the heart of Sweden's capital.

Founded in 2008, Lydmar Hotel is Stockholm's quintessential boutique lifestyle hotel, blending effortless elegance with modern luxury.

With a rich architectural legacy dating back to 1826 and a striking 19th-century renovation, the hotel's character-filled building has evolved into a serene yet stylish retreat for travelers seeking both authenticity and comfort.

Overlooking Stockholm's majestic waterfront and the Royal Palace, Lydmar is nestled in the heart of the city's cultural and historic district. The hotel offers spacious and individually designed rooms across five floors, from the charming Classic King to the opulent 70 sqm X-Large Suite. Each room is curated with an electric mix of designer furnishings and original art, offering harbor, park, or street views and all the comforts of a modern home.

A lifestyle experience with soul

At Lydmar, hospitality is deeply personal. The ambiance is relaxed yet refined—where warm, attentive service replaces formality, and where both global guests and local Stockholmers feel truly at home.

The hotel's vibrant social hub is The Dining Room, a contemporary bistro inspired by Manhattan's culinary scene. Here, the atmosphere is that of a welcoming living room, serving bold flavors crafted from high-quality ingredients. Guests are encouraged to dine as they please—sharing plates or savoring solo indulgences—amid the lively rhythm of locals, travelers, and creatives.

In the summer months, the hotel's Terrace and Patio come alive with seasonal menus, expertly mixed cocktails, and live music events, offering a sun-drenched escape overlooking the city.

Intimate spaces, unexpected moments

More than a place to stay, Lydmar is a home for conversations, creativity, and calm. Each floor features Living Rooms—inviting communal areas perfect for lounging, spontaneous meetings, or quiet moments with a coffee or cocktail.

Guests also enjoy complimentary access to the renowned Grand Hôtel Spa & Fitness next door. Whether it's a classic Swedish massage, yoga with water view, or a tailored personal training session, wellness here is seamless and indulgent.

A slightly different kind of luxury

At Lydmar, luxury isn't about extravagance—it's about experience. From pet-friendly rooms to interconnecting options for families, from harbor views to in-room art collections, the hotel redefines what it means to live well while away from home.
